PARIS WITH KIDS

Paris With Kids

The Family Guide to a More Relaxed Paris

Paris is magical with kids.

You just need to experience it differently.

Paris is a city made for walking, exploring and discovering something beautiful around every corner.

But traveling with children changes the rhythm. The goal isn't a perfect itinerary — it's knowing what you can find nearby when you need it.

FOUR QUESTIONS THAT SHAPE THE DAY

PLAY

Where can the kids run and recharge?

EAT

Where can we eat without stress?

PLAN B

What happens if it rains?

BABY CARE

Where can we stop when we need to?

> The goal isn't to see all of Paris.
> It's to enjoy the Paris you're in.

Don't plan Paris around attractions.

Plan it around your family's energy.

01 One big experience
Eiffel Tower · Louvre · Musée d'Orsay

02 One kids' break
Park · Playground · Treat

03 One easy meal
Choose somewhere nearby

04 Free time
Coffee · Slow walk · Nap · Hotel

REMEMBER

Not to check off every attraction.
The goal is to enjoy Paris together.

PLAY / PARKS

Let them be kids.

A 30-minute play break can save the next three hours of your day.

Jardin du Luxembourg	A classic Paris stop and an easy place to slow down.
Jardin des Tuileries	One of the easiest parks to pair with classic sightseeing.
Champ de Mars	A natural family break when visiting the Eiffel Tower.
Parc de la Villette	A large park with plenty of space to explore.
Jardin d'Acclimatation	A destination where the kids become the day's main activity.

PINPOINT TIP

Don't wait until the kids are exhausted. Schedule a park break before everyone reaches their limit.

EAT / RESTAURANTS

The best family restaurant isn't always the most famous.

Sometimes it's simply the one that's close, comfortable and easy.

RAINY DAY

It's raining. Now what?

Rain doesn't have to ruin your Paris day. It just means you need a Plan B.

THE RAINY DAY MOVE

- Rain
- Open your Pinpoint map
- Rainy Day collection
- Choose something nearby
- Keep exploring

WHERE TO GO INDOORS

- Louvre Museum
- Cité des Sciences

PRACTICAL

When things don't go as planned...

A useful map isn't only about attractions. It's about the moments between them.

NEED BABY CARE?

Louvre — Stroller & Baby Room

NEED TO SHOP?

Merci · Bonton · Galeries Lafayette

NEED A QUICK COFFEE?

% Arabica Paris Louvre

NEED CLOTHES?

Zara

PARENT TIP

Before leaving your hotel, identify:

1 bathroom option

1 food option

1 kids' option

You may never need them — but you'll be glad they're there.

Your 3-minute Paris plan.

Before leaving the hotel, give yourself a Plan A, a Plan B and a little flexibility.

01

One place to play

Where can the kids run, play or recharge?

02

One place to eat

Where can the family grab food nearby?

03

One Plan B

What happens if it rains or someone gets tired?

Then go.

> You don't need to know where you'll be at 3:17 PM. You just need to know what your options are.

Three easy family days.

Build your day around a neighborhood and your family's energy — not a race across the city.

ITINERARY 01 FULL DAY

Eiffel Tower Day

Eiffel Tower · Family meal · Champ de Mars · Berthillon

One landmark, one meal, one long run-around on the lawn — then ice cream.

ITINERARY 02 MUSEUM DAY

Louvre Day

Louvre Museum · Baby Room · Nearby meal · Tuileries · Angelina

Art in the morning, a change and a reset, then the garden right next door.

ITINERARY 03 PLAN B

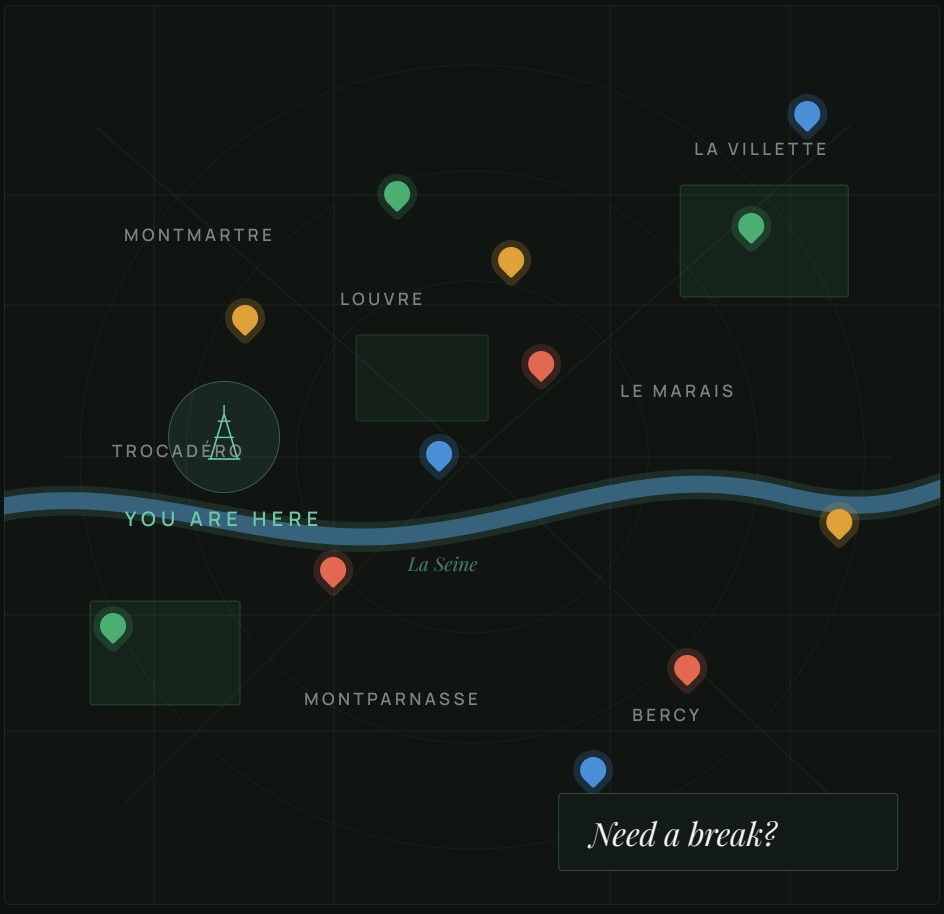

Rainy Day

Cité des Sciences · Nearby meal · Forum des Halles · Musée en Herbe

Everything indoors, everything close — the weather stops mattering.

You don't need to memorize Paris.

You just need to know where to look.

PARIS WITH KIDS

Paris is better when you know where to go.

Paris with children doesn't have to mean rushing, searching or canceling the day because the weather changed.

It can mean finding a park nearby, a good place to eat, a backup plan — and enjoying Paris at your family's pace.
